THEY'RE CALLING ON YOU

Chimpanzees are on the brink of extinction. They're calling on YOU to donate your phone today!

You can now help save Chimpanzees in Africa simply by donating your mobile phone! Each time your mobile phone rings, a tiny piece of metallic ore from Africa is making this call possible: coltan.

By donating your phone through the They're Calling on You mobile phone recycling program you are:

- Diverting your phone from landfill,
- Helping Zoos South Australia raise money to support primate conservation work in Africa through the sale of refurbished phones and . . .
- Lessening the demand for coltan mining by providing the coltan coated capacitor in your old mobile phone a second life.

To support the They're Calling on You mobile phone recycling program you can:

1. Visit Adelaide or Monarto Zoo to collect a postage paid recycling satchel, and post your mobile phone to the Aussie Recycling Program where your phone will be refurbished and resold to disadvantaged community groups.
2. To donate a corporate fleet of mobile phones please contact Nicole Winen at nwinen@zoossa.com.au or (08) 8267 3255 to arrange for the collection of your mobile fleet.
